

The PhatBack™

TM

Stock To Custom In An Hour

By Michelle A. Yaklin

Photos by www.OsbornePhotography.com

It happens whenever Henry rolls up on his Harley-Davidson touring motorcycle. People hear the rumble of a Harley-Davidson engine and they will glance over to see the bike. But the reaction to Henry's bike is not the standard head nod. People stop, do a double take, and then step back in awe to admire this custom bike. It's something they have never seen before.

Then he hears the all-too-familiar feedback. "Nice bike, man." "Different." "I've never seen anything like it." "It's beautiful." "What is it?" "Who makes it?"

"Thanks, man. It's an '05 Road King Classic. I designed and fabricated it in my garage," says Henry T. Chriss, founder of Henry Thomas Designs, LLC, d.b.a. Old Skool Cycle Werks (OSCW) (www.oldschoolcyclewerks.com).

Henry's flagship product, coined the PhatBack™, is a one-piece, hand-laid fiberglass body kit that allows you to customize your own motorcycle. In about an hour, you can go from stock to custom, at an affordable price, in your garage. The PhatBack gives you the look of a full-scale custom bike, without spending $100,000. Even better, you can enjoy riding it instead of keeping it in the garage and only taking it out for the shows.

Who makes it?

Henry creates all of his aftermarket motorcycle accessories on his own, out in his garage. From design to fabrication to painting and installation – he does it all.

Henry is a business consultant who has always had a passion for motorcycles and customization. In the corporate world,

Continued on next page

